

1900-031 Chancery Causes: Eli King vs. Eleander King
Lee Co.

Whisman, Moles

CA-Divorce
T-Property

To the Honorable H.A.W.Skeen, Judge of the Circuit Court for Lee County, Virginia:

Humbly complaining your orator, Eli King, would respectfully show to your Honor that some twenty years ago he intermarried with one Eleander _____. At the time of said marriage your orator as well as the said Eleander _____ was a citizen and resident of Lee County Virginia, where he in his said wife continued to reside together as man and wife until something like six or eight years ago when his wife, the said Eleander, for some reason unknown to him became quarrelsome, dissatisfied and jealous, and acted in such a manner as to make herself and your orator both unhappy and miserable, and finally, about six or eight years ago abandoned and deserted your orator, since which time they have not lived together as man and wife nor have they cohabited.

Your orator further states and will show your honor, that he was to his said wife a faithful, industrious and true husband all the time they lived together and provided for her a good living, and that he would have continued so to do had she remained with him and permitted him. That during the time they lived together, her father conveyed to them jointly a twenty-five acre tract of land, and that your orator purchased and paid for something like 100 or 125 acres of land. That upon the tract conveyed to them by the father of his said wife he made permanent and valuable improvements, such as repairing house, building out-houses, barn and setting out orchard, until its value was very materially increased. That when his said wife left and abandoned your orator, she took with her a horse, a cow and all the household and kitchen furniture.

Your orator would state and charge that the 25 acres conveyed to him and his said wife jointly, and the personal property she carried away with at the time she abandoned your orator would be as much or more than she would be entitled to had he died and she be left a widow, or as much or more than she would be entitled to, the value of his property and financial standing considered, but he is willing for her to have the same title to be made accordingly whenever his divorce is granted him, he retaining absolute title to the land and property conveyed solely to him, free from the contingent right of dower of his said wife.

Your orator will further state that he and his said wife are, and have been residents of Lee County Virginia all their lives. That his said wife abandoned him more than three years before the institution of this suit, and he verily believes that she is fully determined never to live with him again.

Now the object of this bill is to procure a dissolution of the bonds of matrimony now existing between him and the said Eleander King, and to equitably adjust property rights between them, and to this end he prays that the Eleander King be made ~~xxx~~ a party hereto and answer the same, but not under oath that being expressly waived, and for all other further and general relief. And he will ever pray &c.

The depositions of James Moles, J.A. Whisman and others, taken before me _____ a notary public for the County of Lee in the State of Virginia, at the law office of D.C. Sewell, in the town of Jonesville, on this the 30th day of October, 1900, pursuant to a notice hereto attached, which are to read as evidence in behalf of the plaintiff in a certain suit in chancery pending in the Circuit Court of Lee County Virginia, wherein Eli King is plaintiff and Eleande King is defendant.

Present Eli King and D.C. Sewell attorney for same, and,
G.G. King representing Mrs. Eleander King
J.A. Whisman a witness of lawful age being duly sworn deposes as follows:

Q.1.-- Please state you age, occupation and place of residence.

A.-- I am 47 years old, I am a farmer, and live in Lee County Virginia

Q.2.-- Are you acquainted with the parties to this suit, and if so how close do you live to them?

A.-- I am acquainted with both of them, have known them all my life. I live about one-fourth of a mile of Mr. King and about one mile from where Mrs. King now lives.

Q.3.-- Do they now live together as man and wife?

A.-- They do not.

Q.4.-- How long have they been separated and been living a part?

A.-- About five years. She told me yesterday that they<sup>this</sup> had been apart five years in ~~last~~ October.

Q.5.-- Do you know anything about the circumstances of their separation?

A.-- I do not. I only know they separated.

~~Q.6.--~~

And further this deponent saith not.
